BC TRANSIT SEEKING INPUT ON CRESTON VALLEY TRANSIT

CRESTON – BC Transit and the Regional District of Central Kootenay are pleased to invite residents of the Creston Valley to comment on options for transit service at an Open House next Tuesday February 14, 2012.

“This is a great opportunity to work with BC Transit to remodel the Creston Valley Transit system,” said John Kettle, Board Chair of the Regional District. “We need to provide a transit system for our residents that is both functional and sustainable for the future”.

“It is important that the local community has had the opportunity to provide comments,” said Manuel Achadinha, President and CEO of BC Transit. “Successful transit requires the input of the community.”

“I encourage residents and businesses to attend the open house to offer ideas on ways to improve transit service,” said East Kootenay MLA Bill Bennett. “Transit service works best when it is shaped by the people who use it. I look forward to hearing about results of this open house.”

Creston Valley Transit Open House
Community Complex
Tuesday, February 14, 2012
10am to 2pm

At the Open House residents will be able to review transit options and provide their feedback on how to deliver effective transit that best supports the needs of the community. An on-line survey is also available for residents to provide their comments. For more information and the on-line survey can be found at: <http://www.bctransit.com/transitfuture/>

The feedback from the open house and the online survey will be used by BC Transit and the Regional District for recommendation.

Funding for the Creston Valley Transit System is cost shared between the Regional District of Central Kootenay and BC Transit.
